In the 23 years since its founding, North Side High School has held the interest and attention of students and adults both in its neighborhood and throughout the city. It occupies in our community a niche that serves almost every aspect of education and recreation.

Serving the needs of its students beyond essential facilities, North Side enjoys a swimming pool, an unusual campus, and the second largest auditorium and largest gymnasium in the city. Various civic groups and professional ball teams find here an adequate location for their activities. These are the physical qualities which help North Side to lend itself to the community.

But the characteristics which make a school successful are those which each student carries away within himself. They are not taught by one class, nor are they tangible or visible, but they are as much a part of an education as daily recitations.

The various departments aid every student immeasurably in deciding upon a future vocation. For those who have decided on an occupation, our departments give a sufficient background for many positions. For those students who plan to go on to college, North Side prepares well for future schooling.

Besides these academic phases, the tepee teaches the most important lesson of all—how to live with other people. The constant association with people at school teaches lessons in living as truly as does our schoolwork.

In all these aspects—social, moral, physical, and mental, North Side fulfills its purpose to the student body and to the community.

North Side's faculty was originally made up of 27 members. Since that time, the number has increased to the present 57. Advancements in methods of teaching have been introduced by new teachers and by the experience of the original faculty. Modern facilities and improvements on older teaching patterns have added to the teaching capacity of the tepee as a whole.

"50" Each teacher realizes the influence he or she holds over the entire student body. It is, therefore, important that the caliber of the faculty remain high. North Side has always been recognized for its able teaching staff.

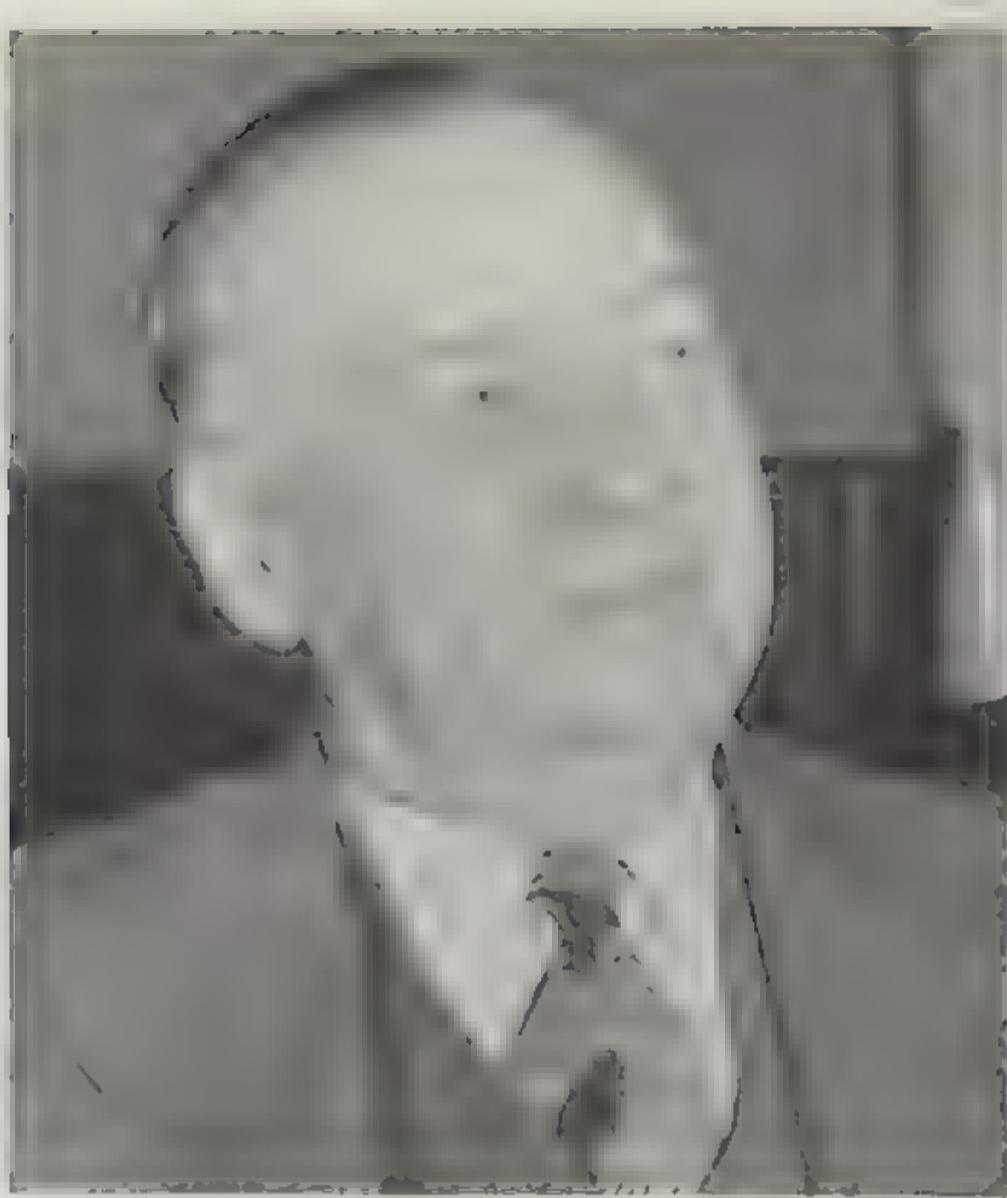

As we are enveloped in the daily activities of the classroom, students sometimes find it difficult to recognize the values derived from schoolwork. The fact that Columbus discovered America in 1492, or that $x=y$, may seem to have little practical value in the future when we need to put our education to use. But our work gives us a solid background and general training, preparing us for the positions we will hold in community life. The most important duty a high school teacher assumes is that of guiding students in becoming useful members of a community.

SUPERINTENDENT MERLE J. ABBETT

PRINCIPAL MILTON H. NORTHROP

Authorities Direct Educational Affairs

Merle J. Abbott, superintendent of public schools, has given careful thought and planning to maintain the high standard of our educational system. Under his supervision, North Side has established its place in the community, producing many leading citizens. Mr. Abbott's suggestion for a successful high school career lies in his following quotation. "There are no formulae that are effective except hard work, suitable performance of each day's task, and good conduct in every single experience you will have now and later. These are good days, but hard ones; these are days filled with opportunity, but require your best God-given talents to realize the full benefit of them."

High schools have always played an important role in a community, particularly when they are blessed with the leadership of a man of the high caliber and high ideals of North Side's Milton H. Northrop. His keen interest in students and his ability to understand and work with young people have gained him the respect and friendship of every tepeelander.

Everyone knows a principal's job is a big one with a tremendous responsibility, but in "Pop" Northrop's 22 years of experience at the Redskin dome no problem is ignored.

No alumnus ever forgets "Pop", and many take every opportunity to come back and pay him a visit.

Dean, Parents Unify Guidance

Pleasant, kind, co-operative, and understanding are only a few of the adjectives we can ascribe to our dean, Miss Victoria Gross. Her outstanding personality and amiable disposition make it easy for students to come to her for the answers to all problems. She is always willing and ready to give wise counsel to those who need it, and is recognized for having the student's interest at heart at all times.

Her long record of experience in guidance and supervision has made her an invaluable asset to North Side in directing all clubs and class activities, in planning guidance programs, and in serving as adviser to the Student Council.

The P.T.A.'s aim for amicable relations between teacher and parent is accomplished by the hard work and efforts of its officers and committee members. Shown here are the officers for the 1949-50 school year.

Miss Mary Newell, treasurer; Mrs. E. M. Gandy, recording secretary.
1949-50 school year.

The Parent Teachers' Association, formed primarily to foster understanding between teachers and parents, has now grown to be an organization giving great impetus to a movement of improving the social and educational welfare of the student body. By developing a closer relationship and a feeling of unity between teacher, student, and parent, this body has helped to keep the fire in our school spirit.

A Study Group made up of P.T.A. members has had many interesting discussion meetings with "Freedom to Grow" as this year's theme.

The P.T.A. also gave its attention to sponsoring a social function, "The Bobby Sox Hop," which was fun for after-game entertainment.

Faculty Members Aid Students

In the education given in today's schools, English may be said to be of basic importance. A good foundation in English is essential to higher education, to success in the business world, and to the fulfillment of a happy and useful life. A community is truly wealthy if its members have a command of the usage and meaning of our language.

High school students are given the opportunity to contribute to and become a part of the community by participating in the yearly Chamber of Commerce essay contest. Through this contest, the community's needs and standards must be kept in mind, thus training adolescents to become useful and valuable adults.

The publications' department plays an effective role in preparing teenagers for community living. Not only through learning to write of their school and its activities but also in their business contacts with adults outside the school, journalism students learn the meaning of public relations.

The Northerner and The Legend present to the community lasting symbols of pupils' sense of responsibility, initiative, ability, and hard work.

develop desired expressions when before the footlights. Each semester new students are instructed and given experience on the school stage before classmates and friends.

Climaxing their four years, students excitedly present the Senior Play to which all the community is invited. The training which the young actors and actresses receive enables them to realize the emotions of a person other than themselves.

While working in speech, students are taught a subject of further value. In many different situations the man or woman who has the ability to speak before and win or convince a gathering is a leader. Any such person is an asset to a group large or small, a community large or small.

Juniors and seniors here are offered two semesters of work in daily speech classes while debates and contests are worked on by all students who care to devote extra hours.

A good half of the boys and girls studying in high school are required to elect a foreign language as part of their course. The languages now offered, Latin, Spanish, and French, give students who enroll in these classes instruction in more than pronunciation.

Understanding one's neighbors is necessary more than ever today; and this knowledge, gained through class and club alike, is an aid to any one preparing for a place in this modern world fraught with strife and misunderstandings.

Students of all ages seem to enjoy some phase of science. From snails to stars, the popular question is "Why?" As freshmen, students begin their training in biology. As the courses of school proceed, botany, physical geography, physics, or chemistry may be elected.

There must be an answer for everything somewhere, and in science boys and girls learn how to go about finding the answers. In tackling large problems of small, the solution is found by reasoning, figuring, and applying knowledge.

Mathematics also has its place in every high school course. The required amount is one year of algebra, while geometry must be taken by those going to college. More is offered in the advanced stages of both subjects and in college algebra and trigonometry.

to those who are mathematically minded.

But the teachers who instruct in any phase of math know the importance of getting their pupils to respond to simple ideas presented in a complex manner and to develop strong reasoning powers. These are qualities valuable to everyone, child and adult.

The social sciences cover a wide range of learning, each part being important in itself.

Knowledge of history is not primarily learning dates and generals. The student who reads between the lines in history books can see the emotions of man. The understanding of how the tides of the human race turn and how one man's power can create or destroy is vitally important to the graduate who plans to be active in his community.

With civics and economics well studied, young boys and girls have a fairly complete background concerning politics and general economics. Civics elaborates on what history books briefly mention in regard to government and its operation.

Earning a living, the problems one meets, and how to cope with them is brought out in high school in the study of economics.

Thus teenagers should learn the general responsibilities of being an adult before they leave the classroom.

Another most essential part of any high school is the business department. For students who are not planning to enter college upon graduation but are seeking immediate employment, the business course offers instruction in not only the ways and means of business but the how and why of the business world.

Aside from the routine studies, business students learn about partnerships, corporations, administration, law, and contracts. Relationships between employer and employee and the buyer and the seller are all stressed as well as the study of the American business system.

General economics in business is important, too, because these young people are planning to someday take over and form new office jobs and proprietorships and make their own claim in competitive community life.

A useful subject for those who wish to take it, home economics helps instruct girls to care for the home they will someday be expected to maintain.

Within the courses laid out by this department they learn the art of sewing, whether Actual experience is obtained by caring for the apartment which is furnished attractively and realistically. Above all, the girls learn that a woman who is active in her community and who admirably takes care of her domestic duties is a welcome person in any surroundings into which her life may take her.

In the form of separate instructions to be had for boys, shop work is valuable and important. Boys who show interest and proficiency in manual work and who enjoy the shop, find the industrial arts department ready to help them. Offered in the course are metal, wood, and mechanical drawing.

Actual running of machines enables the students to gain the right experience needed. The majority of American men run a machine or specialize in certain fields. Such men are the backbone of America. Craftsmen are always needed in my community, and this high school course helps train students for such jobs.

entertainment. A Cappella, in addition to initial radio broadcasts, presents a predetermined number of concerts for the student body at its various programs and assemblies and includes in its schedule special dates for both local and state organizations and institutions.

But A Cappella is only the final step in a long series of classes in music. Two choirmen and boys' and girls' choirs are first fields to meet and conquer.

Different divisions in music are found in the band and the orchestra. The orchestra accompanies at concerts and is composed mainly of string instruments. Students are greatly interested in this group and in the band whether they are members or not. The band is a popular organization which plays at both games and concerts. It includes in its repertoire music sweet and hot and the usual marches. Contact with the public is important to any performer, and the music department is well known in this community.

For a Place in the Community

Students participate in community and city wide programs, some on a competitive basis. They offer much and gain more in this inspirational field.

At school dances, programs, and during holidays, art students display their talents to their school friends. All kinds of art are offered in the course, but the basic idea of originality is the most important lesson stressed.

Physical expression is needed by everyone, but growing boys and girls need just as much development of the body as of the mind. Almost every type of exercise is offered here from swimming to archery, and the students eagerly take advantage of their favorite sport. Gym and swimming classes for the boys and girls meet two hours a week.

Outside activities in physical education not only improve the students' skill, but help them bear in mind the right attitude of sportsmanship and fair play.

Student Leaders

Student participation in a governing body known as the Student Council is responsible for the promotion of genuine harmony between students and faculty, and for upholding the well established position of North Side in the community.

A truly democratic body elected by students on a democratic basis is bound to promote good will and a friendly student relationship.

The Council is composed of one representative from each homeroom, one from each club, and all class presidents.

It encourages and develops leadership, and is ever ready to accept constructive suggestions from all represented groups.

George Dutter, president for the 1949-50 term, was the able helmsman steering this group in its activities. Chuck Ellerwood and Lois Cooper gave him their assistance as vice president and secretary, respectively. Dean Victoria Gross and Principal M. H. Northrop rendered their aid by serving as advisers.

The annual Back To School Night, sponsored by the Council, encourages the parents to visit the classrooms and relive their high school days. This group gave its support to "Varsity Varieties", a talent show, and sponsored "Get Acquainted Day". In supporting "Courtesy Week", it stressed the importance of good manners. And Junior High Day was scheduled for the purpose of familiarizing prospective Redskins with the complex arrangement of the Big Dome. It was also decided to have Student Council pins.

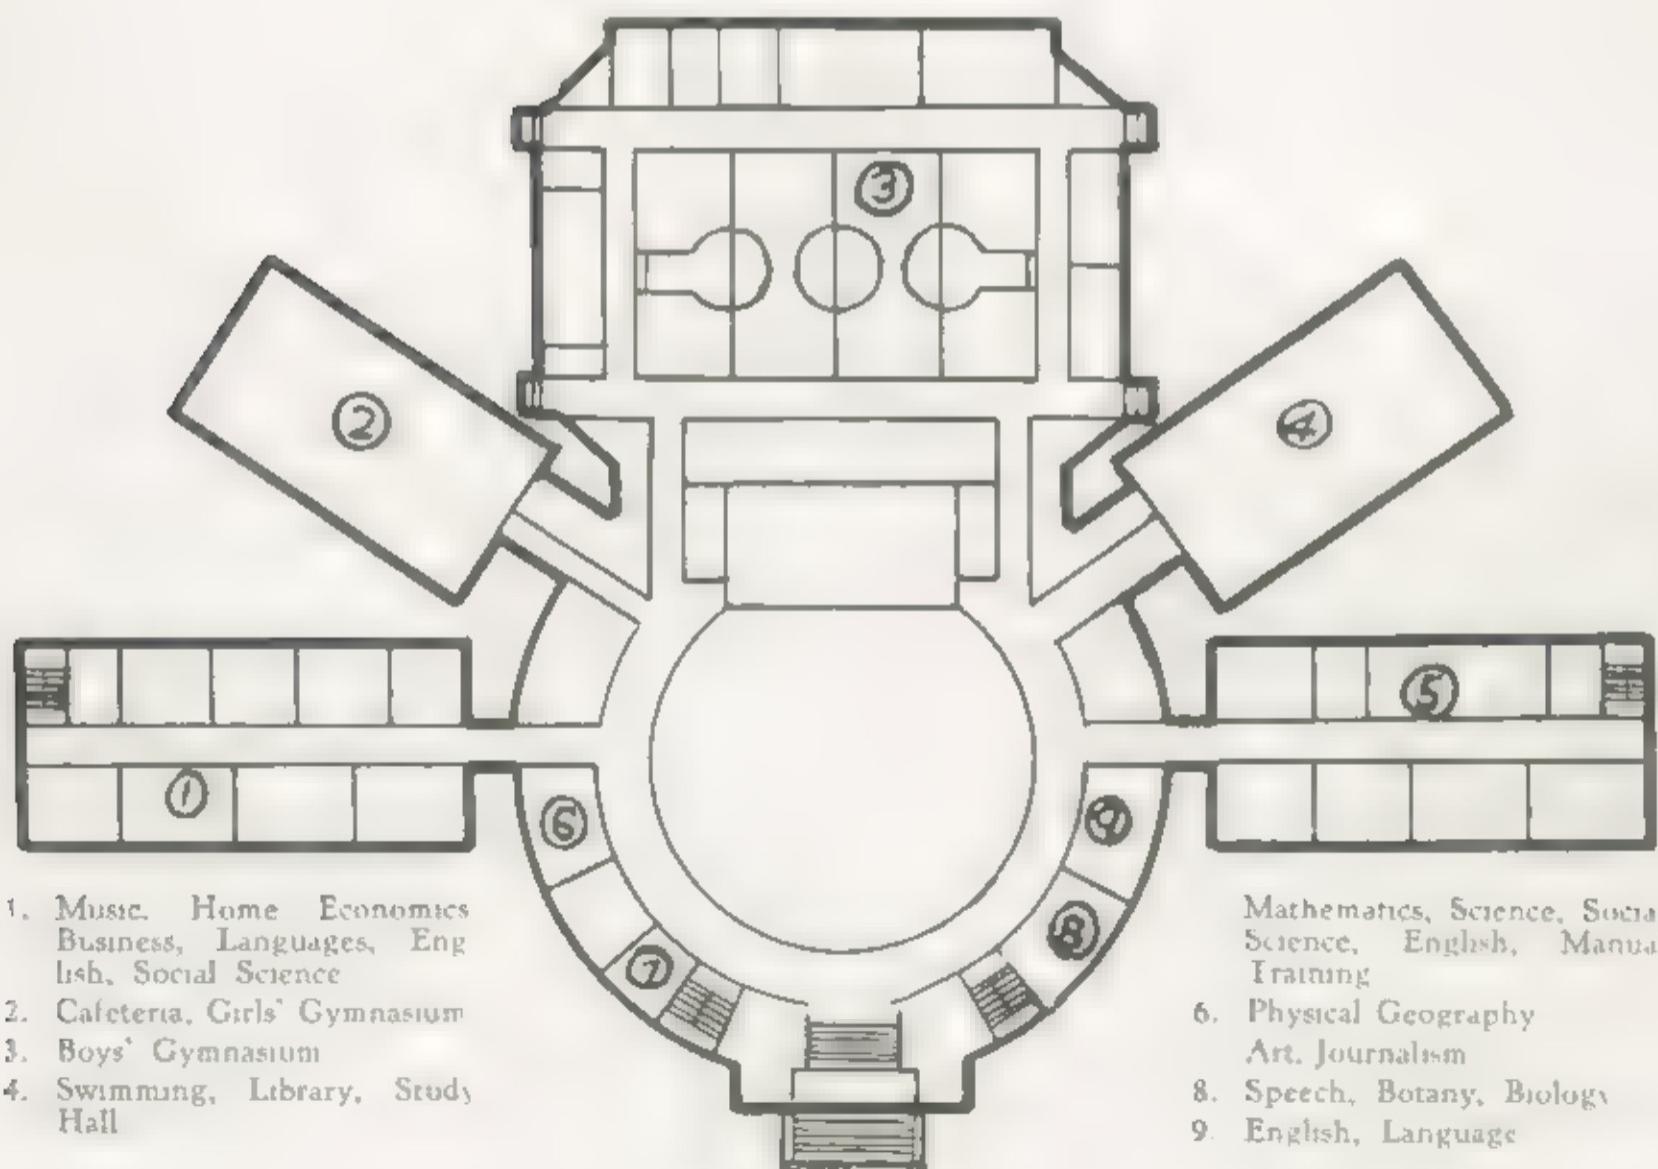

With all of these functions, the Student Council was never lacking in projects requiring its attention.

Seniors Record Proud Memories

With the end of summer each prospective senior looks to the approaching school year with hope, anticipation and a few misgivings. The senior year closes a definite chapter in each of our lives, and upon its completion we find ourselves forced to make of our lives what we can.

As freshmen headed by Jim Schlatter, we became acquainted and worked together through the class party, "April Drift". As sophomores we again gathered together for "Turkey Trot" with Evelyn Burgess as presxy. Our junior Prom, titled "Deep Sea Fantasy", was a grand affair with George Dutter as head man.

The senior year has been successful in every way and certainly has lived up to all lofty expectations. With the opening of school, seniors took the spotlight with the insect plays. Then many of them took part in that program of which North Side is so proud—the Fall Concert. The class elections next entered the picture, enveloping the school with hope and anxiety. Max Morris was elected to be the 1951 presxy with Sam Harper acting as vice-president and Ellen Hunt as secretary-treasurer. The social committee included Dean Ransburg at the head, with Jim Schlatter and John Popp assisting. The class again chose for its advisers Miss Judith Bowen and Ruthford Smuts.

With the new year came the Senior Banquet. The theme was "Our Alma Mater", and the affair was exciting and entertaining, complete with prophecies and favors. The "Magic Eye" took highest honors with cartooned prophecies shown on the slide. The professional-like Senior Play came next, changing our school friends into glamorized actors and actresses. Its name was "June Mad", and each member of the cast and its workers felt proud and nervous as the curtain rose.

Spring advanced with each day calculated and counted. Final studies were more conscientiously worked on before Graduation. These efforts perhaps were rewarded on Recognition Day, June 1. Friday, June 2, was the glorious Senior Day, set exclusively aside for those graduating. With the Commencement Dance on June 3 and Graduation on June 6, we looked forward to a future of anticipated successes and backward to four years of happiness and opportunities at North Side.

Activities

Club meetings, debating, organ lessons, Senior Play! What a varied program each of us carries. No wonder we so often hear that high school years are the best of our lives. At scarcely any other time are we offered so many and such varied activities to make our lives fuller. Nowhere else are we offered the free training in almost any field which is found in the extra-curricular activities in the public high school.

Clubs are an added phase of education that aid the teacher as well as the student. They combine learning with recreation and serve as a connecting link which brings instructor and pupil into closer contact. A student who goes through high school concentrating only upon his studies, giving no time to those activities which could be so valuable to him, loses a most important aspect in his education.

Legend Staff

Miss Freda Withers, adviser

Many hours of hard work and headaches have made the 1950 Legend possible. The Legend is a pictorial record of the year's happenings; it pictures all phases of high school life. The theme this year is "North Side's Place in the Community."

Since the publishing of a yearbook is an expensive business, many projects for raising money were designed and carried out by students. Lois Field was general chairman of the annual Legend dance, "A Night At The North Pole", after a home football game.

Staff members also raised much needed cash in the printing of the football programs. The selling of senior namecards was undertaken in December and January.

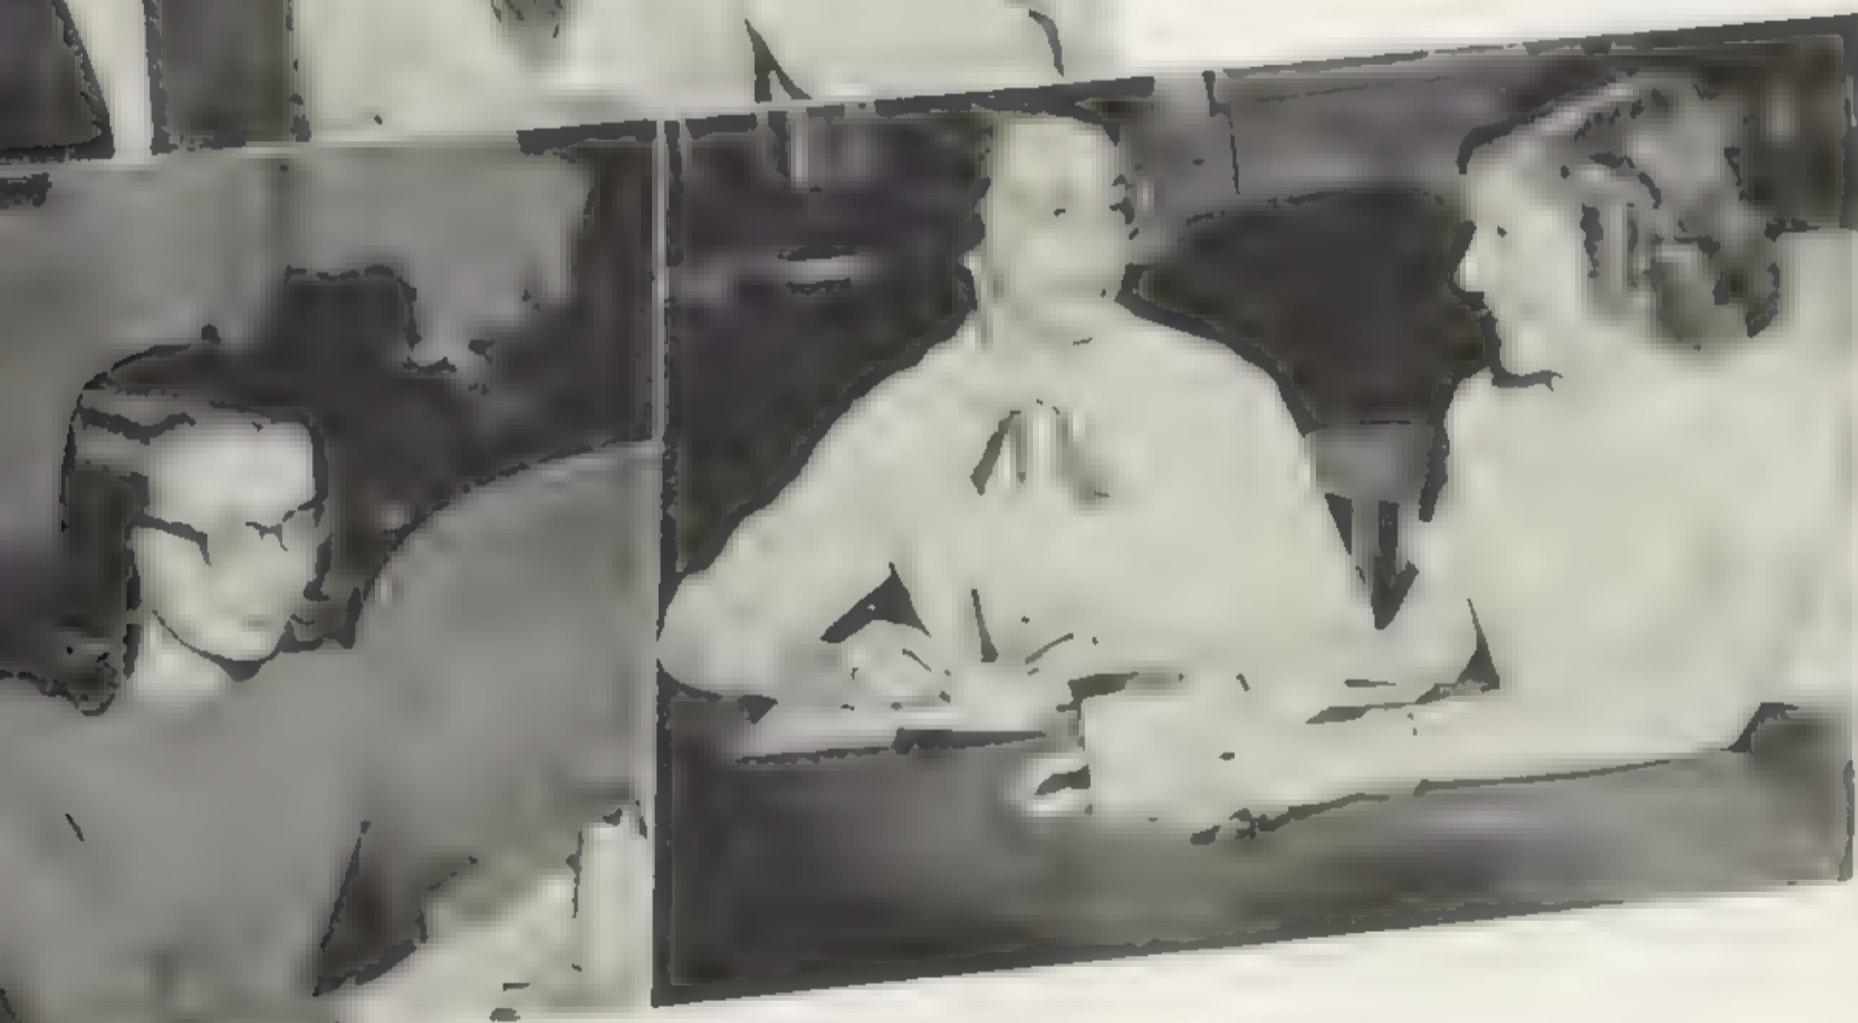

Something new has been added to the 1950 yearbook. For the first time, the Legend contains an advertising section. In this way the book serves the North Side community as well as the North Side students.

Dick VanHorn served as editor of this year's Legend. Other members of the major staff were Ellen Hunt, copy editor; Pat Selby and Margaret Smith, senior editors; Carol Bayer, circulation manager; Lois Field, business manager; May Ann Sycer, assistant business manager; and Sam Harper, staff artist.

The photographers were two Jims, Olson and Kelley. The remainder of the minor staff consisted of Marilyn Johnson and Bud Isay, junior editors; Sue Shuey and Sue Mungovan, sophomore editors; and Carole Williams and Shirley Tomkinson, freshman editors. Copy writers included Karen Harper, Elise Deister, Beverly Crabb, and Dean Ransburg. Both staffs were untiringly assisted by Miss Freda Withers, adviser.

Journalists At Work

Nothing brings a school in closer contact with the surrounding community than a publication about its varied activities. Such a paper is The Northerner, which not only prints current school news but also gives many students an opportunity to make personal contacts with various business men in the city.

The financial support of the paper depends largely upon advertising; and members of the ad staff are always kept busy collecting bills, auditing, or telephoning for needed tie-ups.

This year, after hard campaigning on the part of the circulation department, The Northerner won the coveted circulation cup from the South Side Times. Agents obtained subscriptions from their respective homerooms, while the circulation manager and book heads kept the records intact.

Writing and checking copy for the paper consume many hours of hard work for the journalists. Editors give reporters their weekly assignments in a special book. After the news, features, and sports copy are turned in, only half the work is finished. Copy staff and editors are certainly aware of this since they are recruited to edit stories and count out heads. Finally, the stories are given to Miss Freda Withers, publications' adviser, who stamps them as ready for The School Press.

Editor	Book	Copies	Size	Date	Value	Headlines
John R. Dill	100	100	100	100	100	100
Alvin S. Johnson	100	100	100	100	100	100
Robert S. Klemm	100	100	100	100	100	100
George K. Ladd	100	100	100	100	100	100

Returned proof is corrected and given to the make up editors who fit and paste it to assemble an interesting looking paper.

Even though many Northerner workers may not realize it at the time, they are gaining invaluable experience and education by accepting various responsibilities connected with this work. Every job has its pleasant side, and working on the paper furnishes many good times for the old reliable. When time grows late, a late snack from Sandy's always hits the spot.

The Northerner not only entertains Redskins and the people of the community, but also continues to win names as high ratings, including International Honor Rating in Quill and Scroll, All American award from the National Scholastic Press Association and Medalist from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

The Northerner is being held by the editor reporter, S. I. Big Chief Standish, in the background, center about the campsite. To the right of him is Mrs. John Morrow, staff circulation manager and Marilyn Johnson, circulation manager. Northerner Rates Superior In Three National Contests

"The Northerner is a genuinely outstanding school paper—one of the best," said the judge of the National Scholastic Press Association in awarding the All-American rating for the second semester of the 1948-49 school year.

With this award the Redskins' publication has won top ratings for 1948-49 in the three national high school press associations to which it belongs. Last spring it won Medalist in Columbia Scholastic Press Association and All-American for the first semester of 1948-49 from the National Scholastic Press Association. Recently International Honor Rating was won in the Quill and Scroll contest.

Score Exceptionally High

The current All-American rating is achieved with 1120, the highest

Quill and Scroll

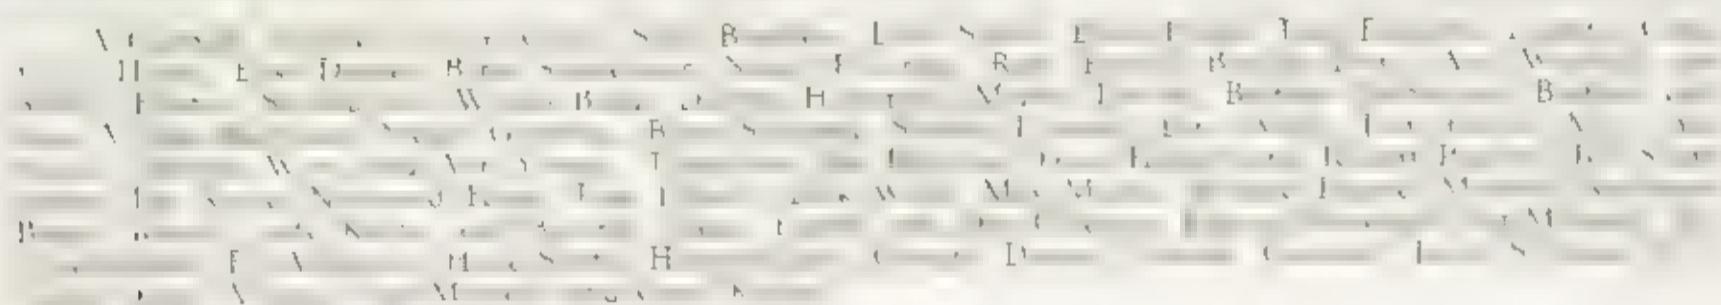

Quill and Scroll is an international honor society for senior journalists who are in the upper third of their class scholastically and who have done superior work in school publications for at least one year. Membership in Quill and Scroll is the highest individual honor high school journalists can receive.

1500 Club

The aim of journalism students is to earn 1500 points for membership in Fifteen Hundred Club. Earning 1500 points entitles students to a bronze pin. A silver pin, gold pin, and gold-jeweled pin are rewards for those winning 3,000, 5,000, and 10,000 points, respectively. Tom Hoemig, Marilyn Johnson, and Miss Freda Withers led the club's activities.

Choral Groups Enrich Civic, School Affairs

Nothing means more to a group of young musicians than the knowledge that their music is both needed and appreciated. The A Cappella Choir has had evidence of both these achievements during the past season. The school year found the choir extremely active under the able direction of Raymond Beights. A program and demonstration for the music teachers conference was given at the Jordan Conservatory of Music in Indianapolis by the choir. This was the only out-of-town trip made

Christmas time has always been the busiest season for A Cappella, and this year was no exception. The choir gave a holiday program for the Wayne Pump and also sang for the Rotary Club and Lions Club. Besides these yuletide musical affairs, the choir and different groups of the choir sang for the Elsun Society at the Fort Wayne Country Club, for several sororities, and the Chamber of Commerce. They also caroled at the three city hospitals.

In addition to these programs that the choir gave during the holiday season, the most important opportunity was a series of six radio programs sponsored by Koerber's Jewelry Store. This year the Christmas Concert was broadcast because it fell on the same date and time as the final radio program.

Mr. Beights, with the help of some of the music students, this year started a new vocal group called boys' choir. Boys' choir combined with girls' choir and A Cappella for the presentation of the Easter Cantata, the "Requiem," by Gabriel Faure.

During the past year A Cappella sang for the school on such occasions as the Chapel Assembly, the Christmas Assembly, and the Lincoln-Washington Assembly.

Band Performs For Students, Public

The North Side High School band, under the direction of Robert Shambaugh, has brought plenty of good music and just plain easy listening to thousands of football and basketball fans throughout the year. Mr. Shambaugh has added several new marches and peppy tunes to the band's selections. Among them are the ever popular Sousa marches.

Besides providing music for football and basketball games, concerts, and pep sessions, the band also furnishes the music for the twirlers and civic parades. The parades

Orchestra Adds To Musical Activities

Many students in the tepee, through exercising their love of music, have gained an inward peace and appreciation of the more beautiful things of life that will always be a cultural influence.

The orchestra, under the capable direction of Robert Shambaugh, has been a source of pleasure to its members, to the student body, and to the community, all of whom have had the privilege of hearing this fine musical group perform at concerts and student assemblies.

This year has marked the fulfillment of a five-year realization. After a long period of absence, the orchestra has finally been reorganized. Most of the credit for the return of this group is due to the revived interest in the string instruments in the lower grades. In the past two or three years, the grade schools have popularized many of the string instruments.

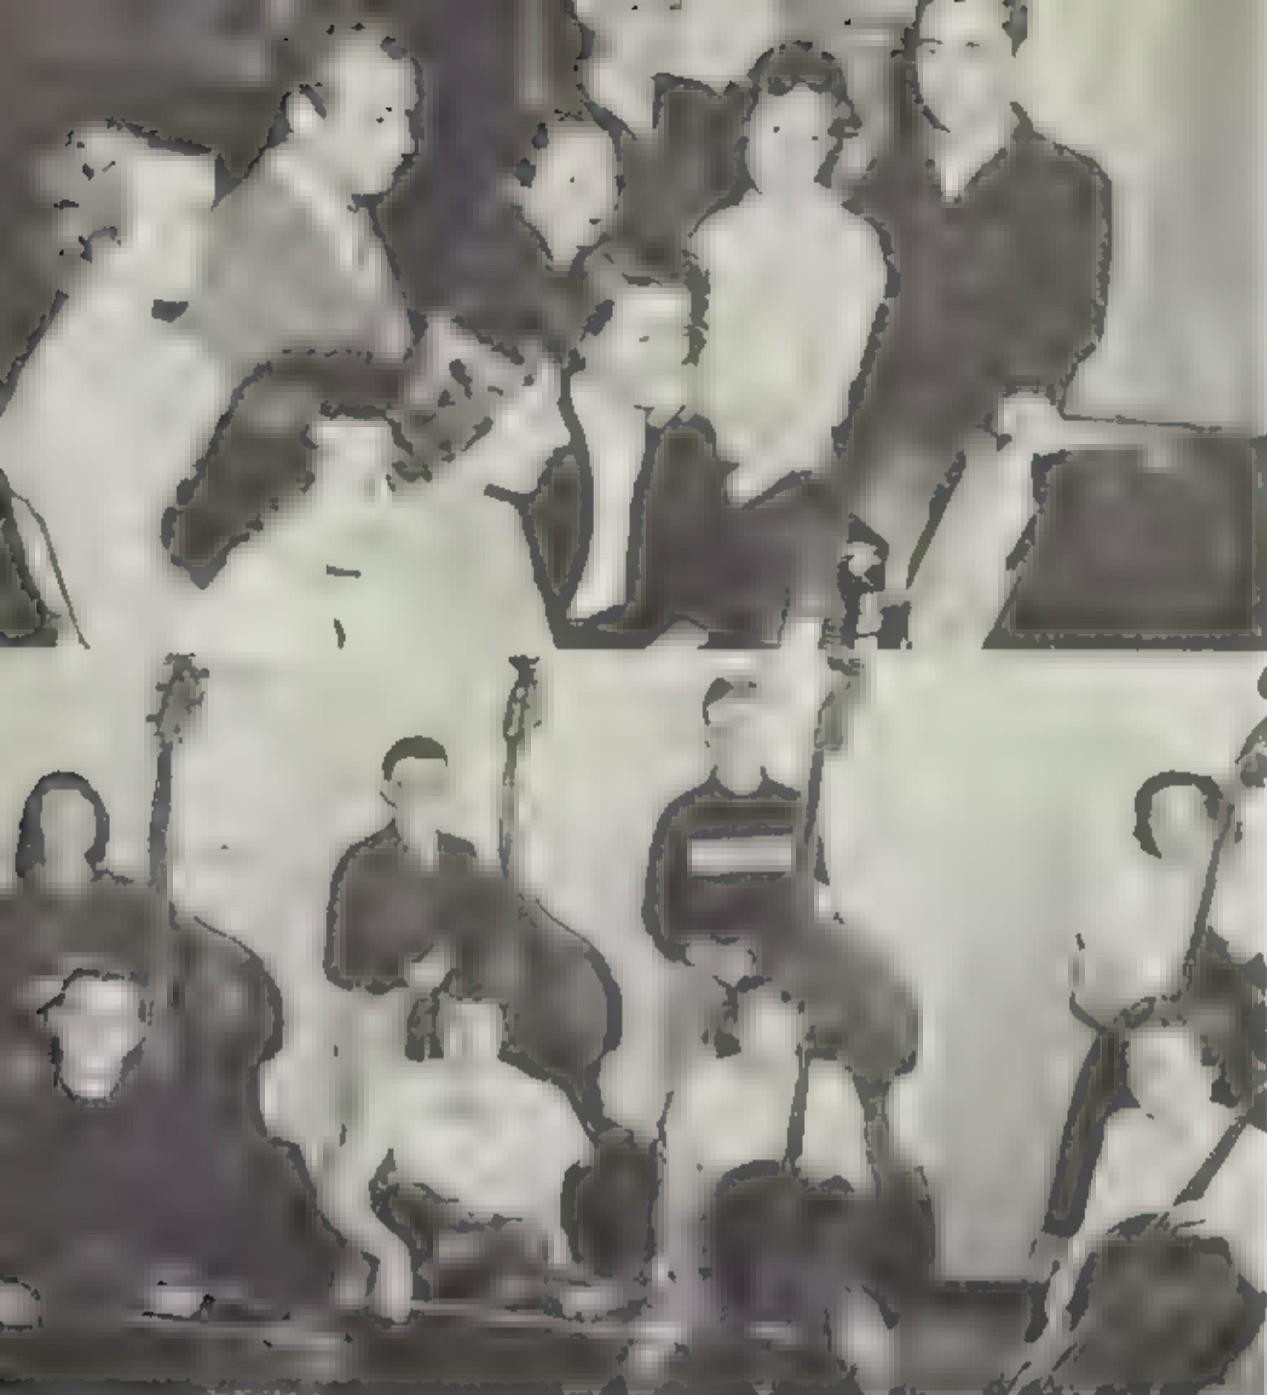

"Music," wrote Carlyle, "is well said to be the speech of angels." Although this cannot pass as a definition, it does serve to emphasize the difference between music and ordinary unharmonious sounds. Today, in this discordant world, peace must be sought in and through music. The orchestra acts as a guide to peace and harmony for our students.

The orchestra began its activities this school year by playing in the first of the yearly music department concerts on October 14. Orchestra members also played for the Senior Play, All City Concert, "Requiem", Commencement, and Spring Festival, which was presented on May 12 by all of the musical organizations.

The highlight of the season was the beautiful Easter "Requiem", by Faure, which was presented on March 31 and April 1. The orchestra and chorus were directed by both Mr. Shambaugh and Mr. Beights during the presentation of the "Requiem".

Presently, the North Side orchestra has among its members Charlotte Erickson, Lee Fink, Paul Schick, Betty Nelson, Richard Lederer, Jean Werner, Jack Peters, Alice Hart, Tom Neave, Lucy Soren, Carter F. Hixson, H. J. Scott, M. L. T., K. S. Peck, Bob Beights, Bill Kuhn, Jack Kibbel, Don Vacek, John Taylor, Doyce Rader, Mrs. Clark, Ruthie Leff, Wanda R. Ross, Pit Fisher, Dan Stevens, Doyce Pfeifer, and Melba Bon. The concert performances are enjoyed by the whole community.

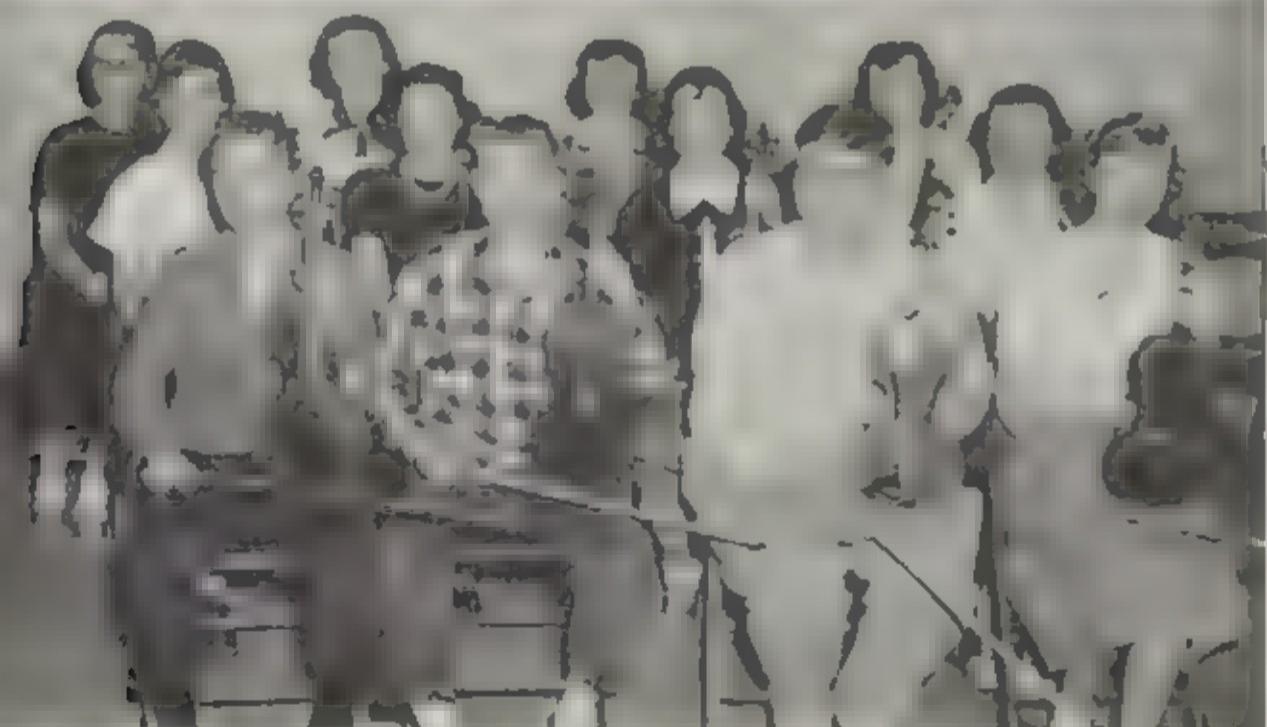

Director Robert Shambaugh

"With a song in their hearts" the members of the orchestra spend many hours practicing their various instruments. Thus they can produce music of the finest quality for the enjoyment of the community and their classmates. Good music is not produced by those who sit down and simply play an instrument. Students who spend hours at individual practice and are attentive at group rehearsals make up a real orchestra.

The instrumental classes are given for those students wanting to enter orchestra and who need further training. The classes are under the supervision of Mr Shambaugh, while members of the orchestra also help these students. Although the orchestra is just getting a good start again, Mr. Shambaugh hopes the growth will continue.

Music Group Leads Band In Activities

To students who are not familiar with the band, its clocklike precision at rehearsals may seem implausible, but to band members it is just an accepted fact, for the work and demands of NSI are well-known by instrumental students.

In Meritites North Side Instrumentalists, under the direction of Robert Shanbaugh, is an honorary music club which serves as the governing body of the band. Membership is based on attitude toward practicing, scholarship, and initiative as directed toward improving the band or orchestra.

Members of NSI encourage practicing among band members and good discipline at all rehearsals. During free periods, members help beginning musicians, instruct students who have difficulty in marching, and file music. While serving as the governing body of the band, NSI also plans social affairs which afford the band recreation as well as cultural advancement. The North Side Instrumentalists seek no merit for themselves; they are merely interested in the welfare of the music department.

Further social functions of the NSI include holding a Christi as party and planning together with a committee from the choral section the annual spring party. This affair is attended by the entire music department and is held in one of the city parks.

Twirlers Entertain Tepeeland

Besides adding color and sparkle to parades and concerts, the North Side Majorettes, under the leadership of Garnett Patrick and DeLoris Boller, co-leader, entertain the basketball and football fans at half time. Before the "half" rolls around, we also see these fair lassies at the start of the game with the presentation of the American flag.

This year the twirlers have tried to have a different performance at each game. They have had more gaily decorated uniforms this year with some main features as the "cowgirl routine" and the Daisy Mae neck wedding. The leaders work hard to master each of these performances.

The fifteen girls practice routines and new formations during fifth periods each day to add color and background to a great many of the school activities. Here the leader brings forth her ideas for many coming attractions. Garnett Patrick explains the new routine and with the assistance of her co-leader, Deloris Boller, helps the other twirlers to master the formations for each performance.

After routines are practiced, the leaders confer with Robert Shambagh, who aids the girls to combine their special numbers with the band's music. Majorettes teach the beginning twirlers two days a week.

Boosters

The Booster Club strives to increase school spirit and good sportsmanship while taking care of food sales at sport functions. Noel Whittern is the adviser; and he is aided by Ruthford Smuts, who is in charge of the cheerleaders. The Booster Club consists of 40 active members and 46 associate members. In order for one to be an active member, he must first attain 25 points or more. Points are attained by selling and helping at the sport functions.

Carol Arney served as president this year, with Vaneta Bartaway, vice-president; Eddie Anderson was the point recorder, and the secretary was Beverly Glasa. Pep session chairman was Sharon Matthews while Pat Dunten was the Student Council representative.

Camera Club has become one of the foremost clubs at North Side To all students interested in photography, this club is a lifesaver.

The purpose of the club is to teach the members to take, print, and enlarge pictures, while giving them the chance to learn how to manipulate different types of projectors. The members have every convenience needed to teach them the fundamentals of good photography

This year, the club had been working hard on the production of a school movie. Special activities during the current year were the Christmas party and several hikes, the weather permitting.

Speakers Take the Stand

The National Forensic League is an honor society for debaters and public speakers. Eligibility for membership requires the earning of at least 20 points in interscholastic contests in public speaking and a high scholastic standing. Ten points entitle a person to associate membership.

After obtaining membership, a speaker may earn advanced degrees by working for more points. N.F.L. pins are presented to active seniors, and letters also may be earned.

This year marks the twenty fifth anniversary of the founding of National Forensic League. Albert A. Coil, adviser, is the state anniversary chairman.

Officers for 1949-50 have been Jim Kelley, president; Sam Jackson, vice-president, and Marshall Ruchman, secretary.

The Junior Forensic League, the little brother of N.F.L., is open to all freshmen and sophomores interested in speech. The club's two-fold purpose is to create further interest in speech, and to promote better speech among underclassmen.

Members participate in intramural and interscholastic contests. Miss Irene Miller, as adviser, gives helpful speech instruction to the League's speakers.

Those elected to office in the first semester were Richard Menge, president; Pat Swanberg, vice-president; Betty Briggs, secretary-treasurer; Cynthia Cantelon, publicity chairman; and Russell Farnsworth, membership chairman.

Eloquent Orators

The Norators have made quite a name for themselves even though they have been in existence but a short time. Albert A. Coil founded the organization for the purpose of combining all students interested in speech work.

The members introduced "Bow Day" to North Side on the day of the annual N.F.L. dance. The selling of the brightly colored bows was a huge success, and it will become an annual project of the club.

The combined speech clubs have had many activities during the school year. Included in the program are the intramural speaking contests, the North Side Debaters' Tournament, Junior Town Meetings, and School of the Air broadcasts. Last fall, speech students traveled to Purdue University for the annual Debate Conference and Legislative Assembly. In December, the speech clubs played host at a Christmas party for the faculty; and in February, they were hosts at a meeting for their parents

The year's many speech activities were rounded out by the speech banquet on May 26. Speech alumni were invited to the affair as were representative speakers from each phase in the school's speech life.

Officers of the group included Carole Stillpass, president; Senya Deister, vice-president; Dick Baum, recording secretary; Sam Jackson, corresponding secretary; Marshall Ruchman, treasurer; Norman Stephan, historian; and Jim Kelley, social chairman.

Parmi Nos Amis

One purpose of the Parmi Nos Amis Club is to enlarge our knowledge of the French people and their customs. The French Club also strives to make students better adjusted socially as they take part in each monthly meeting and program. Guest speakers are engaged to help the French students become better acquainted with France.

Parmi Nos Amis joined with the Latin and Spanish clubs for a Christmas potluck in which each club had a part in the program. These three clubs also presented a dance which they named "Snow Flake Frolic". For a project this year, the French Club donated silverware for the new kitchenette in the club room.

Miss Frances Plumanns sponsors the club. Officers included Marvin Crell, president for the first semester, and Victor Tannehill, president for the second. Vice-presidents were Carol Bayer and Lois Field. Marilyn McKeeman and Phyllis Lecher shared the duties of secretary. Lois Field and Ellen Hunt were treasurers, while Beverly Biery and Pat Liggett were social chairmen.

A business meeting of French Club is made up of officers and cultural advancement. Fun and games are a learning of foreign customs. Below is a short business meeting is held before the program gets under way. There are two speakers who talk of their French experiences. Refreshments usually follow the meeting. Los So-dal-es

Studying the literature, language, and temperament of the Spanish-speaking countries is the main purpose of the Los So-dal-es Club. The Spanish Club strives to give its members a better understanding of these countries by special reports, guest speakers, songs and plays.

At Christmas Los So-dal-es joined with the two other foreign language clubs for a potluck held at the home of Babs Link's grandmother. The Spanish Club also gave an after-game dance in December with these two clubs, and they again joined in the spring for an annual picnic. For a project this year, Los So-dal-es purchased a towel rack for the kitchenette in the club room. Each year a Spanish medal is awarded to the senior with the highest average in Spanish.

Miss Marie Ehle is the adviser of the Spanish Club. Ruth Cleveland served as president all year with Marilyn Johnson serving as vice-president. Phyllis Eicher took the duties of the secretary-treasurer while Nancy Wagner was the social chairman.

In the top corner are pictured the officers of Los So-dal-es. Seated is Nancy Wagner who served as the social chairman. Classical League Recives Latin Life

Junior Classical League is a national organization composed of many different classical clubs in secondary schools throughout the United States. These local clubs are known as chapters of the Junior Classical League.

The members of the Junior Classical League make covenant to hand on the torch of classical civilization in the modern world. They believe that an acquaintance with the civilization of Greece and Rome will help them understand the world of today, which is indebted to ancient civilization.

Special activities this year included the spring banquet, the first Christmas party, and a joint picnic with the Spanish Club, Los Sordales, and the French Club, Parlez Nous Amis.

Club advisers are Miss Loraine Foster and Miss Judith Bowen. Club officers include Senior Consul, Arlene Harshman; Junior Consul, Karen Harper; Scriba, Carolee Ball; Questor, Don Vance Aedles; Sally Beierlein and Elise Deister; and Praetor, Pat Moriarty.

Helicon Club Enjoys Literary Study

Helicon Club is a cultural organization for North Side's literary-minded students. This club meets once every month and usually has a program based on certain literary events which have occurred recently in and around Fort Wayne.

Outstanding events this school year included a potluck dinner in the year, the Christmas play presented at the Irene Byron Sanatorium, and the first book fair which has been held at North Side. Following these events were the Washington-Lincoln Assembly, annually presented by the club, the spring tea, and a farewell program to the club's seniors.

Sponsors of the club are Miss Mildred Hutton and Miss Mabel Greenwalt. Club officers have been Lois Cooper, president; Shirley Cooper, vice-president; Bettina Linn, secretary; Dean Ewing, treasurer; Ann Young, social chairman; Janet Lovelace, membership; Elsie Deister, publicity; Richard VanHorn, program; and Ellen Hunt and George Dutter, critics.

Y-Squaws

To unite its members in a spirit of friendliness and of service and to furnish growth in Christian character is the purpose of Polar-Y, which is a high school branch of the Y.W.C.A.

Under the guidance of its advisers, Miss Geneva Burwell and Miss Lorraine Foster, members participated in many activities. These activities included the selling of Christmas cards, a Christmas party, the mother-daughter tea, and the faculty tea.

The Tournament Twirl after the Sectional games was the main event of the year. The Y.W.C.A. clubs in the three public high schools combined to put over a wonderful dance. The senior farewell in the spring climaxed the year's many and varied activities.

First semester officers included Carol Kroemer, president; Ann Warfield, vice-president; Shirley Horton, secretary-treasurer; and Ann Young, membership chairman. Ann Warfield held the office of president for the second semester, and Susann Rousau served as vice-president. Other officers included Diane Erb, secretary treasurer, and Phyllis Schuelke, membership chairman.

Humanitarians

The Junior Red Cross Club is an important service club to the community as it is a link between the school and the American Red Cross. Together they sponsor the enrollment drive. Through their generous contributions, the students help the club in its drives. At its monthly meetings, the various projects are discussed and the letters that the club receives from the two war orphans are read.

One of the principal functions of the year was the gift box drive for the children overseas. The Junior Red Cross Club also sponsors a drive for two war orphans. A dance, "Cupid's Capers", was presented by the club after the basketball game with Concordia in February. Ruth Oetting served as the general chairman.

Mrs. Alice Nusbaum advises the Junior Red Cross Club. Evelyn Bolinger served all year as the president, with Susann Rousseau serving as the vice-president for the first semester and Gloria Smith serving the second semester. The secretaries were Sharon Cress and Susann Rousseau.

Through its members the Red Cross Club at North Side upholds and carries on its traditions. This club is one of the most valuable for its time and effort are devoted to helping the poor and needy. Naturalists Explore World Wonders Nature Club attempts to give all nature students the opportunity to pursue a hobby which they may be following in nature, and it also provides the chance to develop others which are new and interesting. The philosophy of this club is the thought that a person's interests definitely determine the direction, object, and the extent of his exploration and resulting success. The club has become very popular among the students.

This past school year, the club went on a trip to the famous Izaak Walton Club House and grounds located at Cedar Creek. A fine nature film on different types of flowers and plants was presented to the school by the club. Climaxing the first semester's events was the annual Christmas party for all members of the club. The group also took several hikes when the weather permitted.

Members of the faculty who are ably advising and sponsoring the Nature Club are Miss Vesta Thompson and Clifford Ott. Club officers the past year were Byron Oplinger, president; Barbara Landis, vice-president; Betty LeMay, secretary; Bette Bingley, treasurer; Lela May Bartaway, point recorder; and Sonia Berlin, historian.

Student Scientists

Phy-Chem, a club which is open to any student who is taking or has taken physics or chemistry, does more than concoct odors which are displeasing to the nose. The club was founded to carry on in an organized manner the study of physics and chemistry and to create and develop a greater interest in the chosen sciences. This it really does.

Phy-Chem members demonstrate scientific experiments at the meetings which are scheduled the first Thursday of every month. Lynn Otis gave an interesting demonstration on oxidation, and Wanda Brudi demonstrated the process of making perfume. At one meeting Dr. John Kurtz spoke to the club on the subject of foods.

Phy Chem activities included a gala Christmas party and a picnic honoring the seniors, also a pep session before the first football game.

The Rifle Club, which is a member of the National Rifle Association, was organized to teach safety with guns and better sportsmanship and marksmanship in shooting. Awards are presented to those members attaining high records. The club consists of both boys and girls.

Some of the club's top shooters include Bill Schafer, Ronald Call, Dick Chambers, John Uilkema, Meredith Schinbeckler, Pat Castle, Charlotte Bauermeister, and Jane Moore. Anyone interested in learning to increase his accuracy in shooting is welcome to join the club.

The Rifle Club is advised by Mrs. Grace Bridges and Hyrle Ivy. Mrs. Bridges is in charge of the girls while Mr. Ivy watches over the boy members. The officers have been Dan Votaw, who was president; Dick Chambers, vice-president; Carole Eagleson, secretary; Pat Castle, treasurer; and Ronald Call, executive secretary.

Y-Warriors

The Hi-Y Club is a high-youthful club whose members are dedicated to a useful life. At left are pictured the officers of the club. Seated are Jack Perfect, president, and Max Gollmer, vice-president of the club. Standing behind them is Dayton Musselman, adviser; Dave Gunn, secretary-treasurer, and Dale Smith, treasurer. Dave Hilleberth made a speech. Seated, front row from left are Bob Dyer, Fred Romv and Paul Lewark. Second row, Ray Robinson, Bob Schwartz, and Max Morris. Back row, Pat Moriarty, Ian Rolland and Max Gollmer. Lower right are Jack Perfect, Pat Moriarty, Bob Dyer, Max Gollmer and Ian Rolland. Hi-Y clubs often meet and have socials. At these meetings there is the opportunity to meet students from other schools.

"To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character." This is the Hi-Y pledge; it best describes the high purpose and ideals of the Hi-Y club. The members attempt to carry out this spirit in their activities around North Side.

The most important series of events Hi-Y had this year was the luncheons held each month at which outstanding guests spoke. Some of these guests were Bob Nulf, Hilliard Gates, and members of the Fort Wayne Zollner Pistons.

Also, once a month, the club engaged in several activities at the YMCA. Swimming and basketball were among these many activities.

With Dayton Musselman acting as faculty adviser of the club, the officers for the past year were Jack Perfect, president; Dave Gunn, vice-president; and Dale Smith, secretary-treasurer.

Troupers

The Student Players Club was organized to give special training to those interested in dramatics and to develop generally a better appreciation of drama. This purpose is furthered at monthly meetings as members take part in various skits and plays. The club also has initiation programs and an annual spring picnic.

Senior One Acts were presented early in the first semester. This year the plays presented were "The Wedding" and "Alice's Blue Gown". The Christmas play, which was "The Magic Shop", was presented December 15.

The annual Senior Play was given February 18. Those who took part in the play, "June Mad", were Donna Knispel, Verna Buschbaum, John Cushing, Bill Shampaugh, Joan Connell, Stanley Volk, Bob Heyn, Edna Mae Frech, Rosemary Bresnahan, Seymour Himmelstein, Pat Selby, Lois Field, and Erin Webb.

Miss Margery Suter is the Student Players adviser. Officers for the year were John Cushing, who was president; Bob Heyn, who was vice-president; and Edna Frech, who served as the secretary-treasurer.

Diplomats

To give students a greater knowledge of the Pan-American countries and to further friendly relations with them is the main objective of the Pan-American Club. Special reports and programs are given at the monthly meetings and occasionally guest speakers are engaged.

The Pan-American Club was busy this year with its many activities. A school assembly is always held on or near Pan-American Day which is April 14. An after-game dance was held early in the football season with Cosette Coffman serving as general chairman. This year for a project, Pan-American Club bought new cheerleaders' uniforms.

Pan-Am is sponsored by Miss Katharine Rothenberger and Miss Frances Plumanns. President for the first semester was Cosette Coffman, and president for the second semester was Carolee Ball. The vice-presidents were Martha Dooley and Janet Loveless; the secretaries included Ann Warfield and Nancy Burris. Shirley Cooper and Ed Anderson served as treasurer; Marilyn McKeeman and Sam Jackson shared the duties of membership chairman.

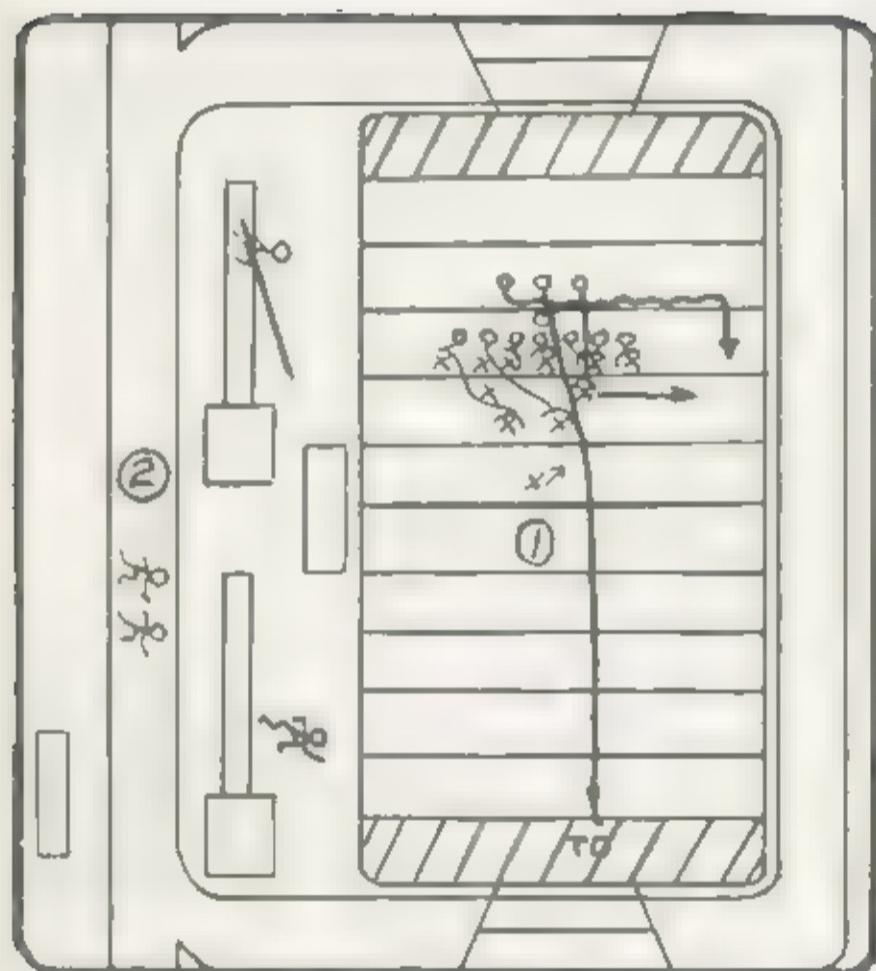

Sports

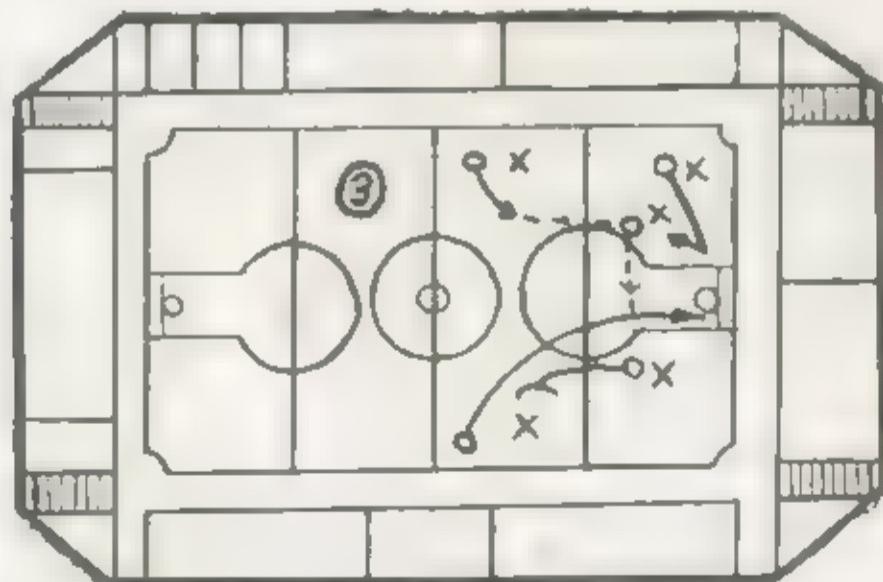

The North Side community and student body alike show pronounced interest in the Redskin athletic department. To students, a successful basketball or football season can do much to assure a happy school year. Community support of a season is reflected by store decorations and public compliments.

Tepeeland has made a name for itself with football, basketball, or track teams since its founding. State recognition has been won by all sports, and a national track record has been held. Boys receiving basic athletic training here have advanced and made names for themselves in collegiate and professional sports.

Through a fall of cross country and football, an exciting winter of basketball, and a scintillating spring of track swings the sports' year. This training offered students by varsity, intramural, and class sports prepares them to take better their places as good citizens in a democratic adulthood.

Fleeting Harriers

Completing a most successful season, North's harriers won eight meets and dropped only one. The Redmen were defeated by Mishawaka in the Eastern Division of the Northern Indiana Conference and, as a result, finished second.

The Chambersmen won the Sectional meet, finishing well ahead of South Side's Archers, who placed second.

Opening the season with Central Catholic, the hill and dale men easily won. Continuing, the Red downed Elkhart and South Bend Riley in a triangular meet. Then they trounced Fort Wayne Central and returned as the Sectional victors.

The Redskins routed Goshen and South Bend Adams in another triangular affair. Next on the list were La Porte's Slicers and the Bears of South Bend Central.

South Side fell next to the North Siders, and it seemed that the boys from the big tepee were headed for an undefeated season. But Mishawaka's Cavemen challenged the record of the Chambersmen, handing the fighting Redmen their first and only defeat of the 1949 cross country season.

Franke Park was the scene of the 1949 Fort Wayne Sectional Meet, replacing the Elks Country Club. The Crimson had no trouble in disposing of the teams entered in the event. South Side Archers finished second as the Redskins rolled home the victors.

Gridmen Tackle Tough Season

"Keep your eyes on the Redskins of the future" was the watchword of the football team. There were only six lettermen around whom the 1949 version of the Redskins was to be built. Also changed but not new was the head coach. This "returning veteran" was Bob Nulf, who had served as head coach at Kalamazoo College since his departure from the tepee in 1942. He is the same Bob Nulf who directed North Side to a pair of state championships.

Assisted by Bob Traster and Bob Edwards, he turned out a team that was creditable in every respect. If a team ever had reason to be downhearted, this was it. They never gave up though, and gave everything they had until the final second of their last game. The record of two wins and six losses isn't much to brag about, but it must be remembered that many of those losses were by a few points at the hands of some of the state's top ten teams.

The first two games resulted in losses to LaPorte and Michigan City. Then came a bright spot in the form of a victory over South Bend Adams. Central and South Side both chalked up City Series wins at the expense of the Redmen from tepeeland. Central Catholic then fell victim to give North a win in the City Series race. Goshen then handed North Side its next loss. This was followed by a defeat at the claws of the South Bend Central Bears, who were then ranked as one of the top two teams in Indiana.

Gone from the team are only nine lettermen, George Dutter, Jack Mougin, Dick Smith, George Bowers, Andy Kurtz, Dean Ransburg, Dick Tonkel, Ed Jordan, and Tom Burlage. Returning from the varsity for next fall are Bill Conway, Ed Rousseau, Dick Kruse, Chuck Ellenwood, Bob Derrow, Froncie Gutman, and Dick McComb. Backing up this crew are reserve team lettermen, Russ Adams, Ronnie Allan, Jerry Hoemig, Bob Etzler, and Jack Gutermuth.

It is easy to see why the prospects for the coming years are cheery with the experienced taking over where previously there were greenies. The North Side community is "Keeping its eyes on the Redskins of the future" with the greatest expectations.

Basketeers Chalk Up Fine Record

Coach Clair Motz's Redskins were a highly successful machine. They brought to the school its first Sectional championship in five years. They wound up the season with a 14-6 record. They captured their third straight holiday tourney. And they went to the finals of the Regional before bowing to a red hot crew of Red Devils from Auburn.

The basketball season was off to a slow start with a loss to Central Catholic. Wins over LaPorte and Tolleston preluded the defeat at the hands of South Bend Central's Bears. Auburn, Central, and Goshen all lost scalps to the Redskins. Then came the worst defeat of the season by the towering Mishawaka Cavemen. Bouncing back, the Motzmen scored with their third consecutive holiday tourney win, beating Indianapolis Howe and Shortridge.

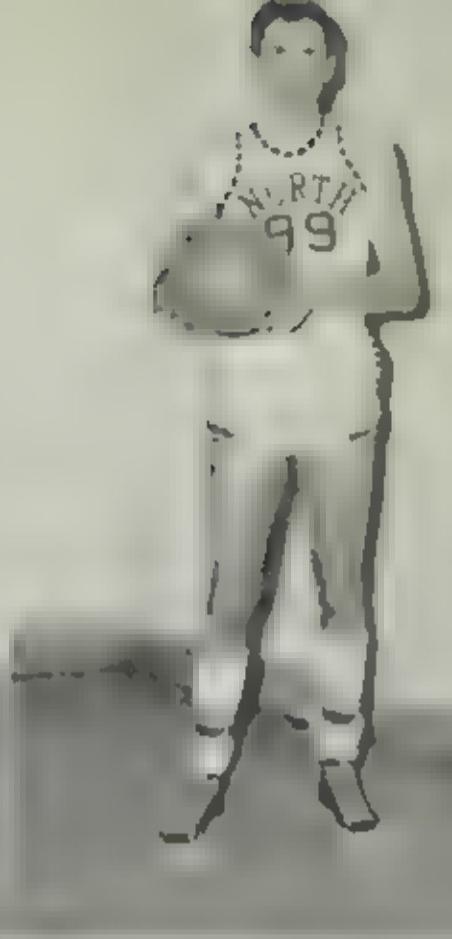

The new year was off to a bad start with a loss to South Side

Alternating wins and losses, the cagers beat C.C., lost to Elkhart, skinned by Michigan City, and dropped their second encounter to South Side. Then came a winning streak that was not to be halted until the final game of the Regionals. Playing South Bend Adams, Central, Concordia, South Bend Washington, and South Bend Riley the final season's record stood 14-6.

The Sectionals brought forth Elmhurst, Concordia, Harlan, and Central to fall before the Redskins. In the Regionals, the Peeweeland cagers lost to Auburn following an overtime struggle with Decatur in the afternoon.

Losing seniors Jim Schlatter, Doug Cunningham, George Dutter, Dean Ewing, Dick Tonkel, George Bowers, and Dean Ransburg, Coach Motz will have Chuck Ellenswood, Bob Ransburg, Ron Allan, and Froncie Gutman returning for action next year.

Tracksters Sprint In Spring Season

Coach Rolla Chambers' "Running Redmen" were off again this spring in quest of track honors to bring home to the tepee. Packed with power in all departments, the 1950 squad has brought home victory after victory, ever keeping their eyes on the State Championship.

Returning for his fourth year has been Archie Adams. Archie has won many honors for the Redmen with his prowess, and this season should be his greatest. Archie is a capable performer in the 60, 220, 440, low hurdles, broad jump, and usually anchors a relay team. Also running in the dashes have been Dick McComb, Jerry Sullivan and Bob Ransburg. In the 440 were Sam Harper and Doug Cunningham. The distance runs have been taken care of by Merl Geiger, Floyd Griswold, Dwight Strader, and Harold Friedrich. Dick Tonkel has run high hurdles.

In the field events Ken Harris has put the shot. Doug Cunningham and Ken Brown have returned to do the high jumping chores. The broad jump was ruled by Dick Smith. Dick McComb has vaulted his way to power as chief cloud duster.

This spring Rolla Chambers celebrated his twenty-second anniversary at North Side, and the team has tried to give him a banner year. Again serving as assistant has been

Don Kemp, who is a former tepeeland star

Last year's team was a formidable aggregation and placed sixth in the State Meet. It won the City Meet, the Sectional, and the Regional. The N. I. C. Indoor Meet and the Outdoor trials were also conquered by the 1949 Red thinlclads. The 1950 team, hindered by a late spring, has tried to better this record.

TRACK SCHEDULE

Tennis Games Enliven Redskin Pastime

Tennis is rapidly becoming an important sport around the Big Dome. This is proven by the fact that last fall more boys came out for it than in the preceding years. Although the team of last year won no matches, several individual matches were captured. Last season, the team met eight conference foes, Elkhart, Goshen, Michigan City, LaPorte, South Bend Riley, South Bend Central, South Bend John Adams and Mishawaka. The "Red Racqueteers" also met the city schools.

Last year's squad included Normand Horn, Jack Perfect, Bob Wineter, Bob Nottis, Jerry Sullivan, and Ian Rolland.

Coach No. 1 Whitten expects to have a better than average squad next season.

Noon League Stages Exciting Series

Winners of the intramural basketball league for the first semester were the Kigmies, captained by Kenny Brown. The Kigmies ripped through all competition by tremendous scores. The Hot Pots of Dick Wilbs moved into the championship game by defeating Bob Norris' Ballots in the semi-final tilt.

Moving into the finals, the Kigmies were hard pressed to defeat the Black Plagues, piloted by Gile Herten. The Plagues had previously lost to the Champs, a team made up of varsity basketball players. This team was disbanded, however, and the "Black Plagues" were elected to replace them. The "Black Plagues" put up an impressive battle against the Kigmies but lost.

Chieftains Plan, Carry On Athletics

The managing of most of the many athletic activities at the tepee is handled by the capable athletic board. In past years, under the supervision of Milton H. Northrop, principal, and Rollin Chambers, athletic director, the board has established a record of which both the school and the community can be justly proud.

Those coaches who supervise the Redskin football, basketball, and track teams, in addition to Mr. Chambers, are Clair Motz, Robert Nulf, Robert Traster, Robert Edwards, and Donald Kemp. Boys' swimming classes are ably instructed by Hyrle Ivy. Noel Whittern is the coach of the Redskin tennis team.

Mr. Nulf is the newest member of the board, coming from Kalamazoo College in Michigan. However, he is not a newcomer to the Big Dome as he coached Redskin football teams several years ago. One of his former teams captured a state championship title.

The school treasurer, Leslie Reeves, has handled all the financial aspects of the entire program of athletic events. Through his accuracy and efficiency, Mr. Reeves has eliminated the majority of the problems which usually accompany a job such as this.

Much credit should be given these hard working men who combine their various talents and their untiring efforts to make the athletic program the outstanding and successful one it is.

Ever since the Lettermen's Club was organized in the spring semester of 1949, the club has been growing larger each semester. The old Athletic Club was disbanded because of its enormous size. Now with more and more boys going out for athletics each year and with many of them winning letters, the still young Lettermen's Club is expanding. Soon it will probably be almost as large as the ancient Athletic Club which included all boys out for sports. The Athletic Club became extremely active during 1931 and since then has played an important part in athletic activities of the school.

To be a member of this fine sports group, a boy must earn a letter in varsity football, basketball, track, cross country, or tennis.

The only outstanding event of the year was a potluck given at the end of the 1949 football season for the members of the Lettermen's Club and all the coaches by the parents of the lettermen. This potluck was held in the school cafeteria.

In the spring the Lettermen's Club usually sponsors a dance which is their main social affair of the school year.

Coaches of the various sports are advisers for the Lettermen's Club. They include Roll Chambers, Clair Metz, Robert Nilt, Robert Traster, Robert Edwards, Neel Whitern, Donald Kemp, and Hyrle Ivy, Sr.

Fun, Hobbies Offered G.A.A. Girls

The Girls' Athletic Association, better known as G.A.A., is composed of sports-loving girls who have these three-fold ideals: health, loyalty, and sportsmanship. The club also has the Three V's pledge: vim, vigor, and vitality, which symbolize G.A.A.

At last spring's banquet, officers were installed to supervise G.A.A. activities for the 1949-50 year. De-Loris Beudler was honored by being elected president. Mary Ann Snyder was chosen to be vice president. Florence Wyss, secretary treasurer, and Carol Schuelke, point recorder. Judy Sterling and Susan Wood were chosen underclass representatives of their respective classes. The large and varied G.A.A. program has been carried out under the leadership of these officers and its two advisers, Miss Margaret Spiegel and Miss Ruth Carroll.

To the left is a group portrait of the officers and advisers. Seated are Mrs. Mcene Goodsen, Gloria Beck, Carol Schuelke, Florence Wyss, Mrs. Ruth Carroll, and Miss Margaret Spiegel. Standing are Arlene Harris, Margaret Detwiler, Mary Jones, Marilyn Schmidt, and Susan Wood. Standing, Bonnie Wall, Nancy Young, Judy Hatch, Phyllis Traster, Betty Terry, Anne Clonch, Doris Ramp, and Carolyn Cutler. To the right below is a shot of the G.A.A. initiation. Here Pat Liggett steadies Beverly Erwin's hand as she puts lipstick on Shirley.

GAA has many athletic activities as the name implies, but along with this program occur many social events. The social program offers the freshman to get acquainted party, Christmas party, mid semester initiation, winter carnival, spring banquet, clambake, and spring initiation to its members for their enjoyment.

Sports consist of tennis, archery, volleyball, basketball, tumbling, softball, track, and rhythmic swimming. The sports season opens with six to eight weeks of volleyball practice before the tournament begins. This year the Junior Senior team was victorious over the underclassmen to gain the title honors. Basketball, tumbling, softball, and track are the main sports which follow volleyball. The champion softball game is always played at the spirit initiation and was won last year by the senior team over the freshmen.

Girls' Sports Create Poise

Swing, tumbling, swimming, ball games fill the girls' sports calendar. Many girls take advantage of the various physical activities in the gym. They take part in activities such as basketball, tennis, ping pong, badminton, etc. Seated to the left of the girls in the photo are Helen Hall, Standish, Margaret Schuyler, Rosemary Clegg, Ruth Ladd, Nancy Rhoda, Valerie Johnson, Sue Walker, and others. Standing behind them are Rosalie Goss, Dorothy Hedges, In the left foreground, Mary Paul, Terry Sorenson, Pauline Webster, and Alice Stevens. In the background, the girls are watching the girls to the right. Beige and light blue striped curtains are visible.

Peppy Leaders Organize Student Yells

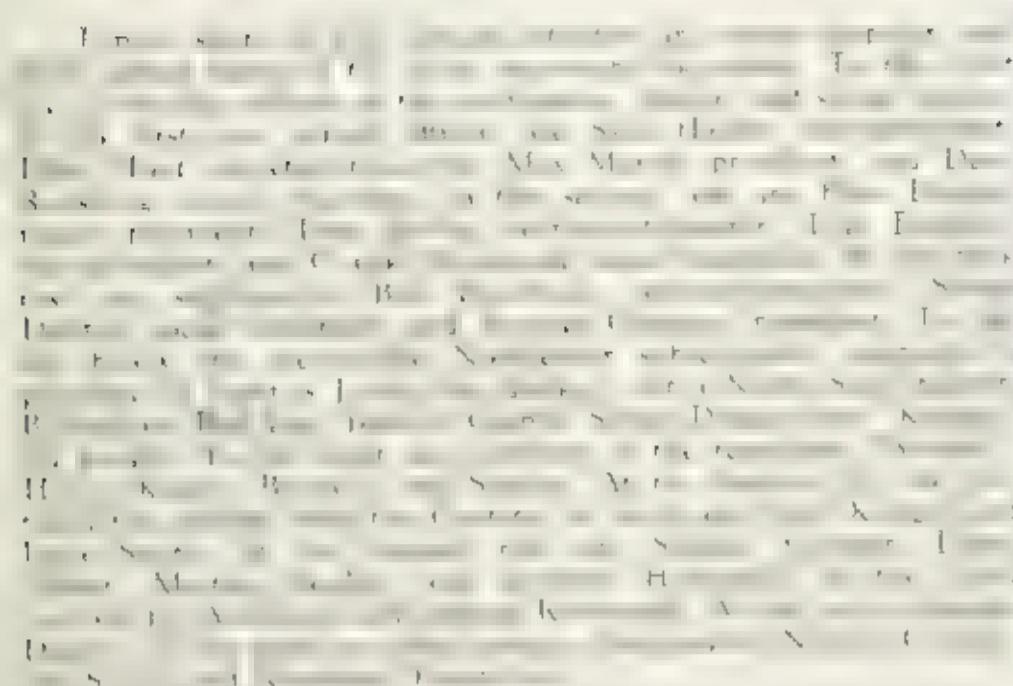

Those ever peppy individuals who lead our cheers or much to boost our football and basketball teams on to victory. Sharing varsity cheerleading honors this past season were Pat Selby, Bob Heyn, Ralph Miles, J. L. Lee Hunter, and Sharon Bowser. Pan American showed its interest by buying snappy uniforms for the group. Ruby Baker, Mary Hoover, Dwight Mauk, and Lois Rush were chosen as reserve cheerleaders and looked mighty promising for coming seasons.

"Hurry, kids, let's get front row seats for the pep session." How often those words are shouted down the hills on Friday afternoons during football and basketball season. This past year, the sessions have been very cleverly arranged by various school organizations. Hearty laughs were heard when Los Soddies presented its version of a circus side show. Many other interesting sessions were also scheduled. Crowning of an athletic queen, chosen by the athletes before the Sectional tournament, climaxed the season's pep meetings. Much of the credit for the success of these sessions goes to Rutherford Smuts, who through hard work has contributed much to our sports events.
